

I think the FCC has very little real power to maintain the honesty of the American airways. I sadly conclude that you have brought on this ineffectiveness yourself as a deliberate plan to serve the powerful and economically elite. Certainly it does not appear that the FCC has a care in the world for the average Joe.

An example of this is the belief by the leaders of Sinclair Broadcasting that they can force their stations to air an anti-Kerry documentary days before the election without fear of FCC's "commitment" to the vast majority of American citizens who are being subjected to a Government that more and more resembles Orwell's 1984. What a shame on you and on all of us.
